Featured Herb: Dandelion

Suppose I was to tell you that I had just discovered a miracle plant which, when eaten as a part of your daily diet or taken as a tea, could, depending on the peculiarities of your body chemistry: prevent or cure liver diseases, such as hepatitis or jaundice; act as a tonic and gentle diuretic to purify your blood, cleanse your system, dissolve kidney stones, and otherwise improve gastro-intestinal health; assist in weight reduction; cleanse your skin and eliminate acne; improve your bowel function, working equally well to relieve both constipation and diarrhoea; prevent or lower high blood pressure; prevent or cure anaemia; lower your serum cholesterol by as much as half; eliminate or drastically reduce acid indigestion and gas build-up by cutting the heaviness of fatty foods; prevent or cure various forms of cancer; prevent or control diabetes mellitus; and, at the same time, have no negative side effects and selectively act on only what ails you, would you use it daily to solve current problems and then for preventative body maintenance? Dandelion is a miracle herb indeed!

This common garden 'weed' is a powerful cleanser for the kidneys and liver. Its name comes from the French 'dent de lion' meaning lion's teeth, after the shape of the leaves. Its strong diuretic action has given it the folk name 'piss-a-bed', so don't drink it before bedtime! It is extremely nutrient-rich and makes a wonderful daily tonic.

Roots can be dug up, cleaned, dried and roasted for use as a delicious coffee substitute, whilst the leaves are eaten in salads to aid digestion. Why not try our Taraxa Café – £5/100g?

Look after your Liver

Both the liver and gallbladder play an important part in a healthy digestive system. The liver is vital for detoxifying our body and plays an important part in making and storing hormones. These days, with the consumption of processed 'fast foods', people 'eating on the run' and leading stressful lives, many suffer from poor digestion and assimilation of nutrients in our food, as well as constipation and elimination problems, hormonal imbalances, and the possibility of an overgrowth of candida albicans and a weakened immune system. Therefore it is vitally important to take care of these organs for your optimum health and well being by following a good diet and eating regime. Below are good suggestions for good liver health:

- Lower fat intake. Less refined, cooked oils or fats. Get most of your essential oils from whole nuts, seeds, and extra-virgin olive oil.
- Rest the digestive system whenever possible, so don't eat too late at night or too early in the morning.
- Be aware of proper food combining. Sweet fruit and cooked protein are a bad combination, causing fermentation in the gut.

- Regular liver flushes and increased daily 'lemon-water' intake is important.
- Daily exercise to eliminate toxins from the lungs, colon, liver and skin.
- Massage the liver area at least once a day to help remove congestion.
- Release 'liver-related' emotions like anger and anxiety in a constructive way.
- All red, orange, yellow and dark leafy green vegetables and fruit are all good liver foods.
- Visit our website Ailments section for more info.

Featured Herb: Cleavers

Cleavers is a common hedge-row weed that is a wonderful cleansing remedy, clearing toxins from the system and reducing heat and inflammation. It has a diuretic action, aiding elimination of wastes, and also acts to enhance the lymphatic system, promoting drainage of waste via the urinary system. These actions combine making cleavers excellent for fluid retention problems, all skin dis-harmony like eczema, acne, boils, psoriasis, abscesses; and urinary infections, kidney stones, arthritis and gout. Cleavers can be used for lymphatic problems, such as lymphatic congestion and swollen lymph glands. This herb cools heat and inflammation in the body, seen in conditions such as cystitis, arthritis, inflammatory skin problems and digestive problems. Its bitter properties stimulate liver function and enhance digestion and absorption. A cooling drink made of cleavers was traditionally taken every spring to "clear the blood".

Best juiced and taken internally, Cleavers are helpful for cases of swellings and tumours—drink a wine-glassful a day. It is possible to freeze the juice in ice trays, and defrost as required. Externally, cleavers has been used as a cream or ointment for lumps and ulcerations. Take one cup internally, as an infusion three times a day. You can also use the cooled infusion as a wash or poultice for inflamed skin conditions. It is a vital ingredient in our Skin Support Formula—£8/55ml.

Skin Harmony

Everyone wants clear skin, which is a key physical feature that denotes beauty and health, and people are naturally drawn to healthy looking people. A clear complexion is a great physical attribute. Often skin problems denote an underlying health problem. Skin eruptions can mean an organ isn't functioning properly. It could also mean a virus, infection, food allergy or hormonal imbalances. If you have problems with your skin, which is the body's largest detox 'organ', also take into account your current diet, emotions and lifestyle and make changes. Some great herbs for skin health are kelp, alfalfa, and parsley. Kelp is a natural source of iron and iodine, both help regulate the thyroid which helps fight germs, bacteria and regulate metabolism. Alfalfa boosts the immune system as its rich in calcium, iron, magnesium, phosphorus and sodium—and is an important ingredient in The Green Stuff. Parsley is much more than a garnish, it's high in vitamins A, B, and C and a wonderful blood cleanser.

In addition to adding herbs to your diet, consider doing a gentle cleanse/detox and possibly adding more fibre, like fresh fruit and vegetables, which also helps the liver and colon filter out toxins, that cause eruptions in the skin.

The Green Stuff is a perfect compliment to your cleanse, boosting the detoxification process and giving your body the best 'easily assimilated' organic nutrition daily. Made from the richest whole-food sources on the planet, this powerful concentrated vitamin & mineral 'Superfood' supports the body in a multitude of ways.

Other than taking herbs to boost your immune system and provide nutrition, it's important to drink plenty of water. Lastly, exercising speeds up your metabolism, moving toxins out of the body faster.

Reiki Healing & Attunements

Reiki is an ancient Japanese tradition of hands on healing re-discovered in the 1800's by Dr Mikao Usui, a Japanese spiritual scholar and healer. Throughout history, mankind has experienced healing techniques based on the transfer of life energy. The word Reiki means 'Universal Life Energy'. This energy is also called 'Chi' in Chinese and 'Prana' in Hindu tradition.

It is a method of channelling safe, gentle, yet powerful energy, promoting deep relaxation and thereby naturally reducing stress and increasing energy levels. During a session, the Reiki is drawn to where it is most needed by the individual and flows through the affected parts of the body's meridians starting a natural healing process. Reiki also increases the therapeutic effects of other treatments.

It can be used safely and effectively to alleviate a wide variety of complaints like:

Allergies, Anxiety, Arthritis, Asthma, High/Low Blood pressure, Chronic Fatigue, Depression, Digestive disorders, Eczema and other Skin problems, Headaches/Migraines, Hormone imbalances, PMT, and even Stress.

Reiki not only assists the healing process, but anyone can be 'attuned' to this energy to help heal themselves and others, and further their spiritual path. As a Reiki Master, Melanie aims to teach Reiki without boundaries, thereby allowing you to be fully creative with this wonderful gift of healing. Her sessions are always individual and personal, and her unique approach encompasses various techniques drawn from a wide range of traditions that may be used to enhance your practice.

Other news ...

This year is already panning out to be a very busy one! Not least with the launch of the Herbcraft ANM accredited diploma in April, but also Melanie's various teaching dates (both in the UK and overseas) through out the year. This has, however, put back the online option of self-assessment for the home study course... but it is still in the pipeline. Keep checking www.herbcraft.info for news.

We are also following news on the Traditional Herbal Medicinal Products Directive (THMPD) due to be introduced in the UK and Europe in April. This is part of a global effort to outlaw hundred's of herbs, vitamins and supplements and thereby affect our personal right to use these Latest good news is, as part of the Association of Master Herbalists, Melanie will be statutory regulated, so she can continue to practice and prescribe her formulae to people.

Also, now, more than ever, we need to get back to Nature, reconnect to our roots and traditions and learn to use 'Nature's Pharmacy', as our veritable modern medicine chest. That way, despite the Directive, we can be more independent and self-sufficient in one of the most important areas of our life ... our health.
